NFA'S FIRE PREVENTION FOR HIGH RISK POPULATIONS: AGE AND DISABILITY FACTORS

This 2-day course will provide an overview of the knowledge, skills, and process required to conduct successful risk reduction efforts among older adult populations and very young children. This course is designed for students who work in the field of prevention, safety education, and community leadership positions. Students learn to focus on the factors that contribute to high fire incidence with the older adult and very young populations. Course content includes:

- personal beliefs and observations about the aging process;
- developing sensitivities about growing older;
- characteristics and challenges associated with addressing risk among older adult and very young population groups;
- the risk reduction process for older adult populations; and
- fire safety plans/messages targeting high-risk populations based on aging.

Upon completion of course you will be receiving a certificate from the National Fire Academy.
